

Amarinth Ltd is fully committed to the provision of goods and services which are fit for their intended purposes and which conform fully to its customers' requirements. To achieve this objective the company operates a process based Quality Management System, it has defined its key processes and these are described in the quality system documentation. The company is committed to providing adequate financial and physical resources to enable the Quality Management System to operate effectively.

Adherence to this policy involves most of the activities within the company and all of its directors, colleagues and suppliers. It is clearly understood by everyone that they are each responsible for the quality of their own work and they are committed to participate in the effective operation of the quality system and its continual improvement.

We operate a policy of continuous improvement and we always strive to exceed the customers' expectations. Our quality policy is periodically reviewed by the team members and the results of this review are recorded. Where deficiencies are identified or where improvements can be made, appropriate corrective action is taken and subsequently monitored for effectiveness. We acknowledge the need to continually improve our quality management system and we measure customer feedback to verify this improvement. Exacting quality objectives and key performance indicators have been established at relevant functions and levels and these are measured and consistent with this quality policy.

The management system and its various manuals are an integral part of our company. All directors and colleagues are trained to be familiar with, and apply quality procedures relevant to their work. Everyone is expected to contribute to, and help improve the quality system at all times via the continuous improvement process.

All services provided by Amarith are covered by the quality management system requirements. The Managing Director has the ultimate responsibility for the effective and economic operation of the quality system and he has delegated this to the Management Representative. Together they have the responsibility and authority for identifying quality requirements in the practice and for implementing the actions necessary to meet those needs and, in so doing, meet the requirements of this International Standard, BS EN ISO 9001- 2008.

For & on behalf of Amarith Ltd.
